This is a T-shaped farmhouse of typical, local Victorian style. The main section of the house faces west and has a three-bay facade with a shingled center gable and a one-story porch. The leg of the "T" is a two-story wing that extends to the east. Windows are 2/2, and the siding is covered with asbestos shingles. There are twin, central stove chimneys in the main part. There is an old bank barn near the house.
